問 2

This image shows a full page of graph paper. It features a grid of dashed horizontal and vertical lines forming small squares. On the right side, there are four major horizontal sections separated by solid lines. These sections are labeled with their respective y-axis values: 100, 200, 300, and 400. The labels are positioned at the bottom right corner of each section. The rest of the page is filled with the standard dashed grid pattern.
